Do you or a loved one struggle with short-term memory loss? If so, you are not alone! Age-related short-term memory loss starts as early as age 45 and other causes of short-term memory loss such as physical or emotional trauma, depression, seizures, and many other health issues can happen at any age. Regardless of the cause of short-term memory loss, journaling engages the brain and provides a written record of events, conversations, and concerns. The My Memory Pal Journal was specifically designed for those who remember things that happened 20 years ago, but are fuzzy on what happened just minutes or days ago. It provides a place to write things down, review and therefore remember them, and then share pertinent information with those who care for them.

Part real-world survival guide and part nitty-gritty how-to handbook, The Nonprofit Marketing Guide will show you how to hack through the bewildering jungle of marketing options and miles-long to-do lists to clear a marketing path that's right for you and your organization, no matter how understaffed or underfunded. You'll see how to shape a marketing program that starts from where you are now and grows with your organization, using smart and savvy techniques, both offline and online. The Nonprofit Marketing Guide boils down the best of today's nonprofit marketing theories into practical, cost-effective, can-do strategies and uncovers the street-tested tactics that you really can pull off on your own. You'll also find concrete tips on how to sit down and produce nearly two dozen specific marketing publications for your nonprofit and additional resources on the companion website. Over the last seven years, the author has done a significant amount of new research via their annual Nonprofit Communications Trends Reports, where 650+ nonprofits take an extensive survey. This new data on the communications goals, strategies, objectives and tactics most often used in the nonprofit sector will be integrated throughout the revision.

As the United States moves to a low-carbon economy in order to combat global warming, credits for reducing carbon dioxide emissions will increasingly become a commodity that is bought and sold on the open market. Farmers and other landowners can benefit from this new economy by conducting land management practices that help sequester carbon dioxide, creating credits they can sell to industry to "offset" industrial emissions of greenhouse gases. This guide is the first comprehensive technical publication providing direction to landowners for sequestering carbon and information for traders and others who will need to verify the sequestration. It will provide invaluable direction to farmers, foresters, land managers, consultants, brokers, investors, regulators, and others interested in creating consistent, credible greenhouse gas offsets as a tradable commodity in the United States. The guide contains a non-technical section detailing methodologies for scoping of the costs and benefits of a proposed project, quantifying offsets of various sorts under a range of situations and conditions, and verifying and registering the offsets. The technical section provides specific information for quantifying, verifying, and regulating offsets from agricultural and forestry practices.
